(NPM/GHL)

Your Honor:

Murphy dated and filed April 19, 2010, granting, inter alia, the Petitioner Jeffrey Thrall Summary Judgment in New York State Supreme Court Article 78 Proceeding, Index No: 2003-7935; RJ I No: 33-03-4643. THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

2

1 THE COURT: Good morning.

2 MR. ATLAS: Good morning, Your Honor.

3 MR. RILEY: Good morning, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Counsel, I'd ask you to note your 5 appearances for the record, please.

6 MR. RILEY: Robert Louis Riley, for the 7 Petitioner Jeffrey Thrall.

8 MR. ATLAS: Craig M. Atlas and Charles E.
9 Symons from the firm of Ferrara, Fiorenza, Larrison,
10 Barrett & Reitz, P.C., for the Respondent CNY Centro, 11 Incorporated and Central New York Regional 12 Transportation Authority.

13 THE COURT: Gentlemen, we have a lot of 14 procedural things to get to in the beginning here. This 15 is a return date and a hearing date on an amended notice 16 of petition and amended petition dated February 5th, 17 2004. I'm going to tell you my understanding. If I'm 18 wrong, somebody correct me.

19 That petition sought to annul the findings of 20 the Respondents' denying disability benefits to the 21 Petitioner upon the grounds that Respondents failed to 22 perform duties enjoined upon them by law. That their 23 actions were unlawful, arbitrary, capricious and 24 unreasonable pursuant to CPLR Article 78. That's led to 25 a lot of back and forth, but that's what we're here to

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

3

1 talk about today.

2 Now, we also have, Mr. Atlas, you brought a
3 motion to dismiss, correct?

4 MR. ATLAS: That's correct, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: I don't want to paraphrase yours,
6 but why don't you state what your understanding of that 7 motion is right now.

8 MR. ATLAS: Okay. Obviously, you've read the 9 papers. The gist of our motion is that looking at 10 the -- getting back to the pleadings, looking at the 11 petition, it fails to state a cause of action, and if we 12 were to proceed with a hearing, that the evidence would 13 demonstrate that the Petitioner cannot prevail, as a 14 matter of law, primarily, on the issue of the invalidity 15 of the Grievance Review Board proceeding. It is our 16 contention --

17 THE COURT: First of all, I'll give you a
18 chance to argue in just a minute. I want to get stated 19 what we have here to do deal with.

20 Mr. Riley, you have the petition itself and 21 then you served some subpoenas, correct?

22 MR. RILEY: Yes, Your Honor, I did. I served
23 subpoenas on the Federal Mediation Conciliation Service 24 for the production of Mr. Garrow and also for the 25 production of John Pinto. After production of an

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

4

1 affidavit from the federal mediator and also business
2 records certification of the Federal Mediation
3 Conciliation Service --

4 THE COURT: You need to come up here. You're 5 speaking low and quickly, and I want to make sure we get 6 the record.

7 MR. RILEY: After production of an affidavit
8 from Mediator Edward Garrow and the business records 9 certification from general counsel of the Federal 10 Mediation Conciliation Service, I withdrew those 11 subpoenas.

12 THE COURT: So the motion to quash that we 13 received is no longer necessary, as far as you're 14 concerned?

15 MR. RILEY: As far as I'm concerned, it's not.

16 THE COURT: Mr. Atlas, do you agree with that?

17 MR. ATLAS: Yes, Your Honor. In fact, we 18 received a copy of a letter from the US Attorney's 19 Office indicating that that is moot as well.

20 THE COURT: I left them on call because I was 21 in Rochester on three cases yesterday and I did not want 22 to assume anything until we cleared it up. So, you 23 gentlemen, are okay with their motion to quash as 24 being -- you've withdrawn the subpoenas, so therefore, 25 that motion is moot, correct?

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

5

1 MR. RILEY: Correct, Your Honor.

2 MR. ATLAS: Correct, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: So that gets us back to the 4 petition itself.

5 MR. RILEY: The petition itself, Judge, is 6 limited at this point to the procedures that were 7 utilized by Centro. We don't intend to proceed here 8 with the underlying merits of the case or that fraud was 9 committed or that his disability benefits were 10 wrongfully terminated. But with regard to the fact that 11 a mediator was present, there was no final combining 12 determination rendered. The decision by John Renock
13 that was issued on August --

14 THE COURT: Don't get into proof yet. I want
15 to procedurally make sure we're clear. Where everybody 16 is clear, including myself, as to what we're dealing 17 with.

18 Assuming you prevail, what are you seeking?

19 MR. RILEY: If we prevail, we're seeking the 20 Court to make a determination that the decision rendered
21 on August 20th, 2003 is null and void. There was no
22 final combining determination rendered. The proceeding 23 was in effect a nullity. And also, we've asked you, and 24 I looked at the addendum clause to the amended petition 25 very carefully, and for such other further relief as to

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

6

1 this Court deems just and proper. With regard to that,
2 we're asking for limited relief with regard to this 3 Court. Looking at the clause Section 2.07 and stating 4 from a review of the evidence that's submitted on the 5 Summary Judgment Motion that it's incapable of 6 enforcement. Therefore, the parties go back to square 7 one.

THE COURT: Which square one?

11 THE COURT: So according to 2.09, does that 12 mean it goes back to arbitration?

13 MR. RILEY: No, we are not going to be bound 14 by arbitration. Mr. Thrall was denied his rights under 15 the Collective Bargaining Agreement. There is a case 16 pending in the Federal Court right now that would 17 resolve all of those rights.

18 THE COURT: Doesn't Section 2.09 say if you
19 can't convene the board, it goes to arbitration?

20 MR. RILEY: Correct, Judge. But I believe 21 there to be a gross mischaracterization of justice at 22 this point, after six years, an appeal to the Appellate 23 Court, to compel him to arbitrate anything under the 24 Collective Bargaining Agreement.

25 THE COURT: I don't want to talk about

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

7

1 injustice yet. I'm just trying to understand your 2 Collective Bargaining Agreement, and Mr. Atlas', your 3 clients, to make sure I understand what square one is.

4 MR. RILEY: Square one is that we would have 5 whatever rights Jeffrey Thrall had at that point, 6 including any and all rights under the law to proceed 7 with an action in court.

8 THE COURT: So, how do we decide what square
9 one is? That would be for another day? Not in front
10 me, unless, I guess, something doesn't proceed the way 11 everyone else thinks they should.

12 MR. RILEY: And I believe that's correct, 13 Judge. As I stated, we have a case pending in Federal 14 Court right now.

15 Now, square one for me would be that it gets 16 back to the point where this determination is a nullity
17 and then we make our arguments with regard to exhaustion 18 of administrative remedies and all those arguments would 19 be argued in Federal Court.

20 But what I'm here for today is to get a
21 decision from this Court that there was, in fact, no GRB 22 proceeding conducted pursuant to the terms of the 23 agreement, and it was incapable of having been performed 24 that day.

25 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. Atlas, I guess, I

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

8

1 just want to hear your position on square one. Assuming 2 if Mr. Riley prevails, what's your understanding?

3 MR. ATLAS: Yes, Your Honor. My 4 understanding -- some of it is the same, that based 5 on --

6 THE COURT: That's a start.

7 MR. ATLAS: That based on what the petition is 8 asking for, I agree that the petition is seeking 9 annulment of the outcome of the Grievance Review Board 10 proceeding. We would, of course, respectfully argue 11 that the petition should be dismissed.

12 THE COURT: And I'm still going to give you an 13 opportunity to do that.

14 MR. ATLAS: If the Court were to grant the 15 petition, I believe that the appropriate relief would be 16 to send it back to the grievance procedure. But this is 17 where I disagree with Mr. Riley. I believe at that 18 point, the parties, the union and Centro, would have to 19 look at what the grievance procedure says. Now, the 20 grievance procedure, as it currently stands, still 21 includes a Grievance Review Board as a possible option 22 for this type of grievance.

23 THE COURT: Yes, like a third party.

24 MR. ATLAS: But you have to pick a third
25 party, not automatically a federal mediator. And then

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

9

1 the contract goes on to say if a neutral can't be made
2 available, then it reverts to arbitration. The short 3 answer would be we believe it would be sent back to the 4 grievance procedure.

5 THE COURT: So we're focussed on the same
6 determination. The remedy today would be a finding 7 either upholding the decision of the review board or 8 annulling it.

9 MR. ATLAS: That's correct.

10 THE COURT: Now, then I guess what I want to 11 do is, Mr. Atlas, I'm going to take your motion to 12 dismiss first. I had you summarize, but if you want to 13 add anything else. I certainly don't want to cut you 14 off with regard to that.

15 MR. ATLAS: Thank you, Your Honor. And I'll 16 be very brief because I know you've lived with this case 17 for awhile now and you've read the papers.

18 Essentially, our argument on the motion to 19 dismiss that there was nothing invalid about what was 20 done with the grievance procedure in connection with the 21 Petitioner Mr. Thrall.

22 The parties followed the Collective Bargaining
23 Agreement, which called for appeals of this type of 24 grievance, which was not a discharge case, not a 25 substance abuse case, to go before a review board.

10

1 THE COURT: Which is that 2.07?

2 MR. ATLAS: That's right, Your Honor. Which,
3 by its terms, the contract said the Grievance Review
4 Board shall consist of two people appointed by Centro, 5 the company, two by the union, and a mediator from the 6 Federal Mediation Conciliation Service.

7 THE COURT: And that's in essence, the rub,
8 right?

9 MR. ATLAS: And that's what happened. The 10 contract also said that the decisions shall be binding 11 on all parties.

12 THE COURT: Talk to me about that. I guess if 13 I'm devil's advocate, how did you get a decision? Isn't 14 that what we're here to figure out?

15 MR. ATLAS: That's what the petition is 16 arguing. Now, we contend that the contract called for 17 and what, in fact, happened was that a majority of the 18 members and a majority of the voting members of the 19 Grievance Review Board decided to deny the grievance.

20 THE COURT: You're maintaining that a vote
21 occurred and it was three nothing, because I think 22 everybody agrees that the two union people left, or no?

23 MR. ATLAS: Yes. There is no dispute about 24 that.

25 THE COURT: So that's what your claim is. It

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

11

1 was a three nothing vote and, therefore, that complies?

2 MR. ATLAS: That's correct, Your Honor. As 3 we've argued in our papers, we believe there is nothing 4 illegal or invalid about that. We've cited case law to 5 support our contention. The Petitioner has said, hey, 6 we believe there aren't any cases out there.

7 THE COURT: Now, what if a vote didn't occur?

8 MR. ATLAS: If a vote didn't occur, then I
9 believe, arguably, there would not have been a final 10 decision. But the question might be what does that 11 mean. Because under the grievance procedure, the 12 Grievance Review Board was the last step of the 13 grievance procedure. There was no further appeal for 14 arbitration, no further appeal to the courts.
15 Essentially, it would have been stuck at the level 16 without any final decision.

17 Under those circumstances, it would have been 18 up to one of the parties, either Centro or the union, to 19 advocate to the other that something should be done. In 20 fact, what happened here is after the Grievance Review 21 Board meeting took place, Centro, Mr. John Renock will 22 be here today to testify, wrote a letter to Charles 23 Watson, the business agent of the union, said this is 24 what happened, please correct me if I'm wrong.
25 Mr. Watson didn't attempt to correct Mr. Renock and the

12

1 matter -- that was it.

2 If the parties to the Collective Bargaining
3 Agreement sought or agreed to do something further, they 4 could either agree at that point to do something 5 further, go to court for some order compelling --

6 THE COURT: Why wouldn't it be a mutual
7 mistake? That seems to jump at me, is the union and 8 Centro set up this procedure putting the mediator on 9 there, but essentially, it seems like, or at least open 10 to the interpretation, that they both thought the 11 mediator could vote.

12 MR. ATLAS: That's absolutely correct, Your 13 Honor.

14 THE COURT: And if that's the case, then that 15 procedure is invalid, isn't it? A mutual mistake, not 16 finding fault, but the premise that they both, union and 17 Centro, put that mediator on was wrong, apparently. And 18 I'll hear testimony if we get that far. But that 19 certainly is what the papers suggest. And that is 20 certainly what the motion to quash the subpoenas and all 21 of that information that came in suggest that the 22 mediators can be mediators, they can't vote.

23 MR. ATLAS: If the Petitioner is correct, I
24 think you would be correct, Your Honor, that the outcome
25 could be validated. We would argue, however, that this

1 affidavit by Mr. Garrow saying, I notice the FMCS really
2 made it very limited what he was going to say, I served
3 as a mediator, not as an arbitrator. That, we believe,
4 is consistent with the Collective Bargaining Agreement,
5 which under 2.07 calls for a Grievance Review Board
6 where the parties would first try to work out a 7 voluntary resolution of the grievance, but by language
8 of the contract and by practice. If they couldn't do 9 that, there was a vote, there was a final determination.

10 THE COURT: And I agree that that's how it's 11 set up. That's clearly the intent, and it seemed like 12 all of that happened. But the problem is then the 13 ultimate thing is it requires a "decision" of the review 14 board.

15 MR. ATLAS: Yes.

16 THE COURT: That's where I think we have a 17 dispute.

18 MR. ATLAS: And as we've cited the NABR case, 19 the federal case, where similar claims were made where a 20 mediator, even in that case, was referred to as giving 21 an advisory opinion that the employer and the union 22 agreed to take as direction -- as a decision that they 23 were going to follow.

24 THE COURT: They agreed to that one. Both 25 sides agreed to accept that advisor.

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

14

1 MR. ATLAS: Yes. And here the parties agreed 2 that there would be a decision by this board that 3 included a mediator, essentially, there as a tie 4 breaking member.

5 THE COURT: I understand. All right.

6 Mr. Riley, do you want to be heard on the motion to 7 dismiss?

8 MR. RILEY: Your Honor, very simply on the 9 motion to dismiss. There were three separate grounds 10 set forth in their affidavit -- I'm sorry, Judge, in 11 Mr. Atlas' affidavit. And the most pertinent was that 12 it fails to state a cause of action upon which relief
13 could be granted, which is clearly wrong.

14 The petition is very clear. It sets forth all 15 the allegations that are necessary with regard to the 16 facts that occurred here. It requests the relief, the 17 nullification of the review board determination and for 18 such other further relief as this Court deems just and 19 proper. The allegation set forth --

20 THE COURT: Mr. Riley, you've got to speak 21 slower or she's not going to be able to get a record.

22 MR. RILEY: I'm sorry. Although, in the 23 petition itself, the amended petition itself, it says
24 repeats and re-alleges. It's not set up as a separate 25 cause of action. There is nothing in there for the

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

15

1 breach of duty or fair representation that would require 2 the Court to dismiss it as a separate cause of action.

3 THE COURT: What about the action against -- 4 well, there seems to be an action against the union.

5 MR. RILEY: Well, that's what I'm speaking of,
6 Judge, the DFR breach of duty of fair representation 7 clause. There is no action set forth. It's merely 8 allegations that is the union never did anything to 9 correct this situation. And we're not asking for any 10 relief against the union at this point.

11 As far as the other allegations in the 12 petition or in the motion to dismiss are concerned, I 13 believe that they're irrelevant and moot.

14 THE COURT: To the extent that there arguably 15 is a state and a cause of action or a claim, whatever 16 you want to call it, against the union, I'm granting the 17 motion to dismiss that within that regard. Because I 18 don't believe -- and they're certainly not a party to 19 this and no relief would be awarded against them in that 20 regard. I'm denying the remainder of the motion, 21 because, frankly, I believe there is an issue of fact 22 with regard to what occurred at the review board and 23 whether or not, frankly, there was a vote or a decision 24 in that regard.

25 I've seen affidavits putting that issue in

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

16

1 dispute and I can't decide the motion as a matter of law
2 unless I know the answer to that issue. Which gets us
3 then to the summary judgment motion, which essentially 4 is the Article 78 proceeding.

5 Mr. Riley, you want to be heard additionally 6 on that?

7 MR. RILEY: Yes, I will, Judge. Your 8 characterization of this as a mutual mistake, I can 9 understand, and I think that is enough in and of itself
10 to get this proceeding the relief granted here.
11 However, Judge, I would say there is no material issue
12 of fact here, whatsoever, with regard to Section 2.07 13 and the evidence that's before you right now. It took 14 practically an act of congress to get that affidavit 15 from Edward Garrow. His role on that day, as stated in 16 his application, that he appeared as a mediator, not an 17 arbitrator, not a tie breaker, not a decision maker, but 18 as a mediator on that day.

19 THE COURT: That's his factual assertion.

20 MR. RILEY: That's his factual assertion.
21 However, we have a little problem here with regard to 22 the mediator's privilege that's been asserted by 23 Mr. Atlas on behalf of Centro with the federal 24 government. It is a very serious privilege under the 25 law. And as you know the FMCS made motions to quash the

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

17

1 subpoenas to have them come in and testify. We aren't 2 going to get Mr. Garrow to come in here and testify. At 3 least I don't believe it unless this Court were to --

4 THE COURT: You don't know that, Mr. Riley.

5 MR. RILEY: Well, then I will reserve that.

6 But the fact of the matter is with regard to this and 7 what his role was on that day, and the relief we've 8 requested in the petition, it's very clear. The 9 supporting papers that are next to this also contain a 10 business records certification with regard to the 11 Collective Bargaining Agreement, with regard to the 12 grievance mediation agreement, and also a request for 13 Grievance Mediation Services, which are admittedly 14 signed by Centro.

15 Now, when you take a look at the documents 16 that have been submitted here and the contracts that 17 were signed, the affidavit of Mr. Garrow, that's been 18 provided by the FMCS, there is no material issue of 19 fact. Nothing that will come out of the hearings will 20 be able to dispense with what Mr. Garrow has submitted, 21 as far as that's concerned.

22 The timeliness of the business record
23 certification, I will submit to this Court that on 24 February 22nd, Mr. Atlas wrote the letter that's in the 25 papers, that you're aware of, that requested the FMCS

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

18

1 not provide any assistance whatsoever to Mr. Thrall or 2 provide any documentation. All right.

3 As I said, it was very difficult to get the 4 affidavit from the FMCS, also the business record
5 certification. But they were provided. There was no
6 delay in providing those to the Court. And I believe 7 they comply with the requirements of CPLR 4518.

8 The terms of the Grievance Mediation Agreement
9 itself are very specific. Everything that that mediator 10 did is secret, it cannot be revealed. Not only do they 11 have a problem with the mediator's privilege in 12 eliciting any testimony from Mr. Garrow, but they also, 13 from the contract that they signed, the FMCS, which my 14 client, according to Mr. Bartlett, is bound by.

15 So not only do they have the law, which would 16 prevent them, and they've argued to you, Judge, in their 17 papers that they should be allowed to come in here and 18 testify that Mr. Garrow voted and at the same time 19 preclude him from being called as a witness and 20 testifying to anything he did during that mediation
21 proceeding. They can't have it both ways.

22 The mediator's privilege is something that I
23 have no reasonable basis in law or fact to argue 24 against. It's clearly established. I believe that the 25 FMCS and the provision of their affidavit of Edward

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

19

1 Garrow --

2 THE COURT: Does that mediator privilege apply
3 to process and procedure?

4 MR. RILEY: I don't believe that it applies to 5 process and procedure, Judge. But I think that the case
6 law that they've cited clearly goes to anything that 7 happened during the conduct or the course of that 8 mediation proceeding itself.

9 Now, having said that, he's told the Court in 10 his affidavit what his role was when he went there. I 11 went there as a mediator for a mediation and not a --

12 THE COURT: Mr. Riley, I don't mind hearing
13 your argument. We're talking about the summary judgment 14 part of this and issue of fact. I'm very well aware of 15 Mr. Atlas has put in his papers and I'm very well aware 16 of what you've put in your papers. I really don't want 17 to rehash all of those things. So let's stay focussed.

18 I understand the mediator's privilege, I
19 understand everything that you've said up to date here
20 with this. I just want to get to the point of why do 21 think there is not a factual dispute? Because it seems 22 to me the issue is what happened and whether or not 23 there is a vote.

24 Now, I don't know what the admissible evidence 25 will be. I don't know what's going to come in front of

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

20

1 me on that. But it certainly seems to be a disputed 2 issue.

3 MR. RILEY: I don't believe that there is a
4 dispute, Judge, because there can be no proof elicited 5 to this Court that's contrary to what's been in the 6 papers.

7 If we have a hearing and Mr. Nordheim were 8 called to testify, his statements concerning what 9 Mr. Garrow did are objectionable. He should not be 10 allowed to testify predicated on the fact that it's 11 hearsay. And it's very serious hearsay. Because by 12 allowing him to testify, if Mr. Garrow is not permitted
13 to come into court and even if this Court were to uphold
14 my subpoenas, I can guarantee you we'll be at the Second 15 Circuit on this with regard to validity of those 16 subpoenas, because they will not stop in this Court.
17 That will be appealed and it will be all the way to the 18 federal courts.

19 The fact of the matter is is that this issue 20 with regard to the proof here, that's why I wrote the 21 things that I wrote in my papers, this clause of that 22 contract, is fought with contingencies for abuse.

23 Now, also, they mention and you mention
24 procedures set forth in the Collective Bargaining 25 Agreement. There are no procedures set forth in the

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al .

21

1 Collective Bargaining Agreement to deal with this issue.
2 And even if it's a mutual mistake, which is the best 3 thing they could say about this, the determination is 4 null and void.

5 Now, there is two witnesses --

6 THE COURT: Because why, Mr. Riley, if there
7 is a mutual mistake?

8 MR. RILEY: Because there was no meeting of 9 the minds with regard to what should have gone on there 10 that day. And also under the contracts. But Judge, 11 here's another thing. These contracts were signed not 12 only by Centro, but they were signed by the union.
13 These contracts clearly request for grievance mediation 14 services and a grievance mediation agreement. These 15 contracts were signed by Centro and the union. They 16 both knew going into this that nothing that was done on 17 that day could be final and binding.

18 We have two things that are going on here, we 19 have 2.07 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and we 20 have what really transpired, pursuant to documentary
21 evidence that's before the Court and those contracts.
22 And that's what they agreed to, that's what occurred 23 that day. I have an affidavit from the mediator stating 24 that. The contracts are in evidence. They're legally 25 in evidence before the Court. There is no material

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

22

1 issue of fact. Thank you.

2 THE COURT: Mr. Atlas?

3 MR. ATLAS: Thank you, Your Honor. I know
4 you've read the papers, but the operative statement from 5 Mediator Ed Garrow that simply says -- after identifying 6 who he is, on August 19th, 2003, I was present as a
7 mediator and not as an arbitrator during a mediation
8 pertaining to Jeffrey Thrall, CNY Centro, Incorporated
9 and ATU Local 580. That's all he said. He didn't say 10 anything about specifics of what went on there.

11 THE COURT: They certainly established by 12 documentary evidence that the procedure was a mediation.

13 MR. ATLAS: In the view of the FMCS, at least 14 after the fact, they viewed it as a grievance mediation.
15 In the view of the parties, they viewed it as a 16 grievance review board, which you know as we 17 described --

18 THE COURT: Yes. The parties established this 19 review board, but you entered into a contract with the 20 one gentleman Garrow, I guess is the one that was there, 21 to show up and serve a role. The question is what role.
22 His role, it appears, contractually and according to his 23 testimony, or at least the affidavit, was mediation.
24 Your contracts call for mediation attempts but 25 ultimately a decision.

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

23

1 MR. ATLAS: That's correct, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: And those two are in the contract,
3 aren't they?

4 MR. ATLAS: Well, even if what Mr. Riley
5 refers to as a contract, which is the paperwork from the 6 FMCS, that even allows the possibility of a mediator 7 given what the FMCS would call an advisory panel. And 8 as we've argued, the parties can agree that if the 9 mediator says in his opinion the grievance should either 10 be denied or be granted, the parties can rely on that.

11 THE COURT: Tell me how you establish that 12 advisory opinion if the best case was given.

13 MR. ATLAS: We have the affidavit right now of 14 Mr. Nordheim.

15 THE COURT: Who is a spectator/participant?

16 MR. ATLAS: He was a participant. He was one 17 of the voting members who was still in the room at the 18 end of the Grievance Review Board meeting.

19 THE COURT: But he can't testify to that, can 20 he, if I want to assert your mediator privilege?

21 MR. ATLAS: Well, there is two aspects to 22 that, Your Honor. First of all, the purpose of that, if 23 there is a mediator's privilege, the purpose of that is 24 so that the parties, the employer and the union, are 25 free during the session, whatever we call it --

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

24

1 THE COURT: I completely understand that. And 2 I support the rationale of it. But, however, having 3 said that, I'm getting one of five affidavits and your 4 position is I can't have the other four, right?

5 MR. ATLAS: Well, my position is two of the 6 members walked out.

7 THE COURT: Right. That's true.

8 MR. ATLAS: One of the members was a federal 9 mediator who cannot testify.

10 THE COURT: Well, I don't know that. You've 11 objected to him testifying. And at least with regard to 12 all of the things that happened, but my question is does 13 the mediator, and I'm not asking, this is rhetorical, 14 but does the mediator privilege go to the issue of if he 15 took the stand and said did you vote or not. We're past 16 the mediation, aren't we? Under your own contract, 17 we're past the mediation attempts, we're now into that 18 final stage that neither party contemplated. But that's 19 where we're at. And so, how is that inconsistent with 20 him testifying?

21 I understand he says if he wants to pull you 22 aside and ask you what do you think and then go through 23 the settlement negotiations back and forth as a typical 24 mediation, certainly neither party probably can testify
25 to that. But how do I know that Mr. Nordheim isn't

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

25

1 basing his decisions on those things as well. And,
2 therefore, once I open the door, it's open, isn't it?

3 MR. ATLAS: First, Your Honor, regarding what 4 the federal mediator viewed. First of all, I cannot 5 speak to the FMCS, what they've already done. So in 6 their papers --

7 THE COURT: Again, you've objected also. And 8 I'm asking you to justify to me your objection to that 9 when you want to put on Nordheim.

10 MR. ATLAS: First of all, based on the 11 argument made by the FMCS and my review of the federal 12 regulations, it's my belief that anything that 13 Mr. Garrow did in his capacity as an employee of the 14 Federal Mediation Conciliation Service in trying to help 15 parties resolve a dispute, is covered by that federal 16 regulation and by that --

17 THE COURT: So is anything Mr. Nordheim says, 18 isn't it? Why not?

19 MR. ATLAS: Well, if that is true, Your Honor, 20 then I don't know why we have been trying this case in 21 one way or another for six and a half years. Because 22 the whole basis for the petition, even starting with the 23 language of the petition itself talks about --

24 THE COURT: You do know why, Mr. Atlas, you do 25 know why, is because the issue of whether or not there

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

26

1 was a vote or not was determined in error based on 2 misinformation that came to the Court previously under 3 Judge Roy. That's why it took this long to get here.

4 MR. ATLAS: The length of time is immaterial.

5 THE COURT: I agree that it's immaterial.

6 MR. ATLAS: Even going back to day one when 7 the petition was filed, the petition talked about the 8 allegations about what happened at the Grievance Review 9 Board meeting. Mr. Riley sought to subpoena the 10 mediator to testify. Mr. Riley, in fact, subpoenaed
11 members of Centro's management. He wanted this hearing
12 to talk about what happened at the Grievance Review
13 Board meeting. We're here to defend ourselves, Centro 14 to defend itself from claims brought by the petitioner.

15 THE COURT: Yes. You're here to defend that 16 your process provided him due process, that's what 17 you're here to defend. That's correct.

18 MR. ATLAS: That's right. And the whole issue 19 about being able to testify about what happened at that 20 meeting is only -- Centro didn't bring this. Centro 21 didn't say we want to bring in testimony, we want to 22 have affidavits --

23 THE COURT: I understand. But your position
24 to me seems logically inconsistent. Because I can 25 either decide this on documentary evidence, which is

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

27

1 what Mr. Riley would prefer to have me do. And I can 2 look into contracts and I can look in all the places
3 where it mentions the word mediation. I can look at the 4 intent of the Collective Bargaining Agreement, which 5 sets up mediation and arbitration, which would suggest a 6 decision, which is kind of inconsistent with the notion 7 of mediation. I can look at all those things or I can 8 start taking factual proof, which is what you want me to 9 do, to some extent, because you want to put Nordheim's 10 affidavit in front of me. And I don't care, and he can 11 testify here, but then I'm not allowed to hear from the 12 arbitrator or mediator as to whether or not a vote was 13 taken. I guess I just see those two positions as 14 inconsistent.

15 MR. ATLAS: Well, Your Honor, again, the only 16 reason -- we didn't ask for a hearing. In fact, Your 17 Honor, I think the last time we had oral argument, I 18 suggested it's an Article 78 proceeding, a hearing is -- 19 the Court can order it, but it's relatively rare. And I
20 suggested at that point we didn't need a hearing.

21 I believe if, Your Honor, chooses to do so, 22 you can decide based on the papers, but since the 23 Petitioner bears the burden of proof in this proceeding, 24 I believe if you just look at the papers, he fails in 25 meeting his burden of proof. Thanks.

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

28

1 THE COURT: Anything further?

2 MR. RILEY: Very briefly?

3 THE COURT: Very briefly. New things,

4 Mr. Riley.

5 MR. RILEY: Very briefly. Your Honor, I think 6 that you have summarized exactly what the problems are 7 here. And I would state that with regard to this and 8 deciding on our papers, the affidavit of Edward Garrow
9 speaks for itself. And I move that the Court can decide 10 this matter on the papers. There is no necessity for 11 conducting a hearing because, as you've stated from the 12 bench, it would basically be pointless.

13 THE COURT: I'm going to take a 15-minute
14 recess and come back with a decision.

15 THE COURT OFFICER: All rise. Court is 16 adjourned to chambers.

17 (Whereupon a recess was taken.)

18 THE COURT: At this point, the Court is 19 prepared to render a decision in this matter. At issue 20 in this case is the Section of 2.07 of the Collective 21 Bargaining Agreement that calls for a decision of the 22 review board with regards to the grievance that was 23 submitted by Mr. Thrall.

24 The Court has considered having a hearing with 25 regard to what transpired at that Grievance Review

1 Board, and at this time I'm deciding not to proceed with 2 a factual hearing in that regard for several reasons.

3 There is, because of the participation in the 4 Federal Mediation Conciliation Service, federal 5 statutory and regulatory policies precluding any 6 testimony by them or their representative that was on 7 the board from testifying in any sort of factual
8 proceeding and in allowing any information as to what 9 happened in that proceeding. That is consistent with 10 what we've referred to previously this morning as a 11 mediator's privilege.

12 In reviewing the contract between the union
13 and Centro, that contract clearly incorporates the 14 federal regulations, in particular CFR Section 1425.2 15 and following, which mirrors -- almost mirrors the 16 content of the mediation agreements signed by Centro and 17 the union, which clearly establishes the role of 18 Mr. Garrow in this proceeding as a mediator.

19 It goes on to provide that the mediator has no
20 authority to compel a resolution of the issue in dispute 21 as presented. It provides that, at best, an advisory 22 opinion could be given by Mr. Garrow. And even if I 23 were to assume that it was, that advisory opinion, by 24 nature of the contract, signed by the union and Centro, 25 has to be mutually accepted or if not it provides an

1 alternate remedy that that will proceed to arbitration.
2 Although, different from the provision of the Collective 3 Bargaining Agreement, that contract is signed by 4 representatives of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
5 And I'll leave that for another day for someone else to 6 determine whether or not or which provision of those two 7 contracts prevails.

8 But to the extent that Mr. Garrow or anyone 9 else were to appear and testify as to what transpired at 10 the review board, I view that as being, in essence, 11 parole evidence, offering information that is contrary 12 to the clear contractual relationship between the 13 parties and FMCS in regard to this dispute.

14 I also, frankly, believe were it not for the 15 contract, that I would probably estop the management of 16 Centro from putting on information as to what transpired
17 at that meeting, given the fact that the other 18 determinative member of the board is not available to 19 testify, either by way of subpoena or voluntarily, based 20 upon federal statutory regulations and policies that 21 prohibit him to do so.

22 I think both the union and Centro agreed to a
23 mediation, and that's what they got. And to the extent
24 that that is inconsistent with the Collective Bargaining
25 Agreement, that is in essence, in my opinion, a mutual

1 mistake. When they drafted the Collective Bargaining
2 Agreements, I would wager that both sides thought that 3 by picking this FMCS member, they got a credible person 4 with knowledge on mediation and resolving disputes, but 5 where they were both in error is that that person cannot 6 be a tie breaker. And therefore, to the extent that 7 Mr. Thrall was not provided with the rights and process
8 that was provided in the grievance committee, I'm not 9 saying that he -- I don't believe he could have been 10 provided with it by basis of the mutual mistake in the 11 contract.

12 I'm annulling the decision of the Grievance
13 Review Board because there is no decision. And there 14 could not be a decision of it based upon the contractual 15 language. And I should be clear, the contractual 16 language of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and more 17 so by the contractual agreement between the parties 18 entering into the grievance mediation agreement that's 19 dated July 23rd, 2003. The parties specifically took 20 away any argument or any right of Mr. Garrow to decide 21 that issue.

22 At best it was an advisory opinion, as I
23 stated earlier, and that would just simply lead to 24 arbitration. If the two sides didn't agree, clearly, 25 Mr. Thrall and the union representative did not agree by

THRALL v. CNY CENTRO, INC. et al

32

1 the fact that they left.

2 That's the decision of the Court. If you
3 would prepare a proposed judgment, Mr. Riley, submit it
4 upon notice to Mr. Atlas.

5 MR. RILEY: Just one clarification point for 6 me, when you dismissed the due to the fair
7 representation cause of action, I want to make 8 absolutely clear it's without prejudice.

9 THE COURT: It's based on the fact -- I don't 10 know what the time parameters or anything else is in 11 there, I'm not extending any time parameters, I'm 12 dismissing it on the fact that they were a necessary
13 party and they weren't made a party to this proceeding
14 here. Whatever that means in a further proceeding 15 somewhere else will be left to have someone else to 16 determine.

17 MR. RILEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Thank you.
